ABOUT THE ASSAM KAZIRANGA UNIVERSITY

The Assam Kaziranga University, located at Koraikhowa, Jorhat, is one of the leading private universities in Northeast India. Established with the vision of providing quality education, innovation, and skill development, the university is known for its world-class infrastructure, academic excellence, and industry-oriented programs.

Kaziranga National Park, a UNESCO World Heritage Site known for the one-horned rhinoceros, lies approximately 65-70 km from The Assam Kaziranga University. Its strategic location enables students, researchers, and visitors to experience the biodiversity, culture, and heritage of Assam while engaging in academic pursuits.

The university is situated close to the Sukapha Samanway Kshetra, a cultural and historical heritage complex established in honour of Swargadeo Chaolung Sukapha, the founder of the Ahom kingdom. It serves as an excellent educational and tourist destination for visitors interested in the history, culture, and unity of Assam.
